Claire Trevor School of the Arts

Overview
The Claire Trevor School of the Arts is one of the nation’s most acclaimed creative centers for the performance and study of the arts within the context of their history, theory, and cultural context. The School consists of four departments, Art, Dance, Drama, and Music, offering undergraduate B.A., B.F.A., and B.Mus.; all four departments offer M.F.A.s in a variety of specializations. The Drama Department and the Music Department house doctoral programs, Drama’s in Performance Theory (jointly with UC San Diego Department of Theater and Dance), and Music’s in Integrated Composition, Improvisation, and Technology (ICIT). The Art Department also offers minors in Digital Arts and Digital Filmmaking.

The School’s departments are located in and around UCI’s Arts Village, providing daily interaction among students and faculty in all Arts disciplines. The Trevor School’s facilities include creative laboratories for the development of skills and for the exploration of the human experience. They include studios and technologically enhanced classrooms, five theatres (including the Irvine Barclay Theatre, located on the UCI campus), a theatre/concert hall, three art galleries, the Donald R. and Joan F. Beall Center for Art + Technology, the Gassman Electronic Music Studio, the Motion Capture Studio, the Arts Media Center, the Arts Computing Laboratory, the Digital Arts Teaching and Research Laboratories, a television studio, professionally managed and staffed production shops, and publicity and box offices supporting the School’s extensive production, performance, and exhibition schedule.

The Steven Ehrlich-designed Contemporary Arts Center, the latest major expansion of the School, provides 59,000 square feet of technology-driven instructional and research spaces, as well as a new 4,000-square-foot gallery and a “black-box” performance space. Along with its new motion-capture studio, these facilities enhance the School’s and UCI’s place at the forefront of these fields.

Trevor School students work interdisciplinarily in addition to deeply exploring their own chosen disciplinary fields. Faculty and students across the campus are engaged in the the newly-created Institute for 21st Century Creativity, a platform for theoretical and practical exploration of the creative process.

The artists, performers, and scholars of the Trevor School faculty are regularly augmented by distinguished artists and teachers featured in numerous School activities.

Students receive assistance with program planning and a variety of other services from the professional and student-support staff in the School’s Office of Student Affairs; the staff also provide academic counseling to Arts students.

The Trevor School is committed to developing the best of the traditional arts, and to both exploring and creating the art forms of the 21st century.

Change of Major
Students wishing to change to an Arts major should contact the Arts Student Affairs Office for information about change-of-major requirements, procedures, and policies. Additionally, students should refer to the Change of Major Criteria website (http://www.changeofmajor.uci.edu) for more information.

Special Programs of Study

Minor in Religious Studies
The interdisciplinary minor in Religious Studies focuses on the comparative study of religions in various cultural settings around the world. The curriculum seeks to provide a wide-ranging academic understanding and knowledge of the religious experience in society through study in the Schools of Humanities, Social Science, Social Ecology, and the Arts. See the School of Humanities section for additional information.

Campuswide Honors Program
The Campuswide Honors Program is available to selected high-achieving students from all academic majors from their freshman through senior years. For more information contact the Campus-wide Honors Program, 1200 Student Services II; 949-824-5461; honors@uci.edu; or visit the Campuswide Honors Program website (http://honors.uci.edu).

UC Education Abroad Program
Upper-division and, in some cases, graduate students have the opportunity to experience a different culture while making progress toward degree objectives through the University's Education Abroad Program (UCEAP). UCEAP is an overseas study program which operates in cooperation with host universities and colleges throughout the world. For additional information, visit the Study Abroad Center website (http://www.studyabroad.uci.edu).

Honors
Students who have distinguished themselves academically will be considered for honors at graduation. General criteria are that students must have completed at least 72 units in residence at a University of California campus and must have a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or better, including the grades from the final quarter. In keeping with the Academic Senate Resolution, no more than 16 percent of the graduating seniors may receive such academic honors. For additional information, visit the Honors Recognition page. Individual departments may offer other special honors to students who have excelled in their major subject.

Creative Connections Opportunities
Arts Outreach at the Claire Trevor School of the Arts partners with local school districts, arts organizations, and community centers to share the School’s talents and knowledge beyond the UCI campus. One such outreach program is Creative Connections, which provides exceptional opportunities for School of the Arts students to earn valuable practical experience in K–12 classrooms and in community settings. Projects range from integrating arts into core curriculum in K–6, to workshops in the arts for middle and high schools, to college application mentorship for high school juniors and seniors interested in arts majors. One to four units of independent study credit are available, and in some cases stipends may be available. All Claire Trevor School of the Arts students who hold a minimum 3.0 GPA may apply for these programs.

Overview

The primary endeavor of the Claire Trevor School of the Arts is the creative act. Research activities are pursued both as an end in themselves and as a source that can inform both performance and the studio experience. The intellectual activity of theoretical, literary, and historical courses complements the practical work in studio workshops and performance. The aim of the M.F.A. programs in Art, Dance, Drama, and Music is, thus, to produce artists literate in both traditional and digital media who are disciplined, responsive to intellectual stimuli, and capable of integrating existing knowledge into creative projects. The UCI-UCSD joint doctoral program in Drama and Theatre provides opportunity for significant crossover research and teaching between the two campuses in a wide range of areas in drama and the theatre. The M.A. and Ph.D. program in Integrated Composition Improvisation and Technology (ICIT) is taught by a core faculty whose work embraces diverse forms of music making, challenging conventional distinctions between classical composition, computer music, improvisation, and jazz. It is the strong belief of the UCI Claire Trevor School of the Arts that intellectual integrity and creative excellence cannot exist without each other.
Claire Trevor School of the Arts

Refer to the Departments of Art, Dance, Drama, and Music for detailed information about the graduate programs.

Admission to the Program

Applications are accepted for fall quarter admission only, and ordinarily must be completed by January 15 for the Ph.D. in Drama and Theatre, the M.F.A. in Art, the M.F.A. in Dance, and the M.F.A. in Music, and by March 1 for the M.F.A. in Art with a concentration in Critical and Curatorial Studies. Applications for the M.A. and Ph.D. in ICIT must be submitted by December 1. The number of graduate students that can be admitted to the Claire Trevor School of the Arts is limited. Applicants are advised to arrange for auditions, interviews, and the submission of portfolios, compositions, and dossiers by the appropriate deadlines. Students applying for scholarships and fellowships should do so by January 15, and are also encouraged to apply for financial assistance through the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships. The Claire Trevor School of the Arts has a modest number of teaching assistantships available in all areas, and all candidates are automatically reviewed for teaching assistantship positions; the School informs successful candidates by June 1 for the following academic year.

Upon admission to the program the student is assigned an advisor. Students should discuss with their advisor the scope of undergraduate preparation to determine any areas which may need strengthening if full benefit from graduate study is to be derived.
