Welcome to the General Catalogue

Welcome!

The UCI General Catalogue gives students an opportunity to create a fulfilling university experience by providing all the information needed to construct an academic path of their choosing. The General Catalogue contains detailed degree requirements, full course listings, faculty specialization information, and more, in an easy-to-access online format.

UCI's General Catalogue began publishing solely online in 2011, and along with that transformation came a refreshed dedication to make this invaluable resource as accessible and consumable as possible to all prospective and admitted UCI students, faculty, and staff. Each year, new features and enhancements are added as the UCI General Catalogue continues to improve and develop.

If you have questions, feedback, or would like to send us a note, you can reach us via email (aehassan@uci.edu). We'd love to hear from you.

For more information on how to use the General Catalogue, visit our Help section (http://catalogue.uci.edu/faq).

The UCI General Catalogue constitutes the University of California, Irvine's document of record. While every effort is made to ensure the correctness and timeliness of information contained in the Catalogue, the University cannot guarantee its accuracy. Changes may occur, for example, in course descriptions; teaching and administrative staff; curriculum, degree, and graduation requirements; and fee information. Contact the individual academic program or administrative office for further information.
